Yesterday's London statement said street, distributing anti-foreign and the expectation of agreement was based upon the hope and belief that mainly anti-Japanese literature. France will adopt suggestions representing the unanimous view of the British Government. This is interpreted by the Berlin Boersen Courier as something like an ultimatum. The French writer Pertinax says that Britain repeats her splendid isolation formula, which is picked out. The remainder were an encouragement to German revenge in East Europe. He adds that Belgium approves the British viewpoint.—Reuter.

Paris, May 31. Havas's diplomatic correspondent confirms the report that Britain and France have virtually agreed to the principal points of a Note to Germany in reply to the German proposals for a security pact. It is thought that the remaining details will be settled in time to enable the Note to be sent to Berlin within a fortnight.

Britain declares her readiness to use all her strength to guarantee the integrity of the Rhine frontier. She refuses to pledge herself. Disorders also occurred in Chapei to military intervention in the event of Germany violating the eastern suburb. There is much Chinese frontiers. But repeats her desire faithfully to fulfil her engagements excitement, but the situation is under the peace treaties. Consequently in event of conflict she well in hand. probably would be brought-to support diplomatically the claims of the State attacked.

Britain also admits that France shall retain complete liberty of anti-Japanese riots were inspired by action as conferred on her by the League convenant, in coming to the the killing of a Chinese workman defence of the integrity of the eastern frontiers. The military. forces of France in this case will have to receive free passage through Germany.—Reuter.

CHINA'S PLIGHT.

London, May 30.

The necessity for doing something about China is insisted upon The shot men were undoubtedly by The Times in a leader, which says it is simply absurd to entertain students. Pamphlets distributed the idea that great civilising Powers can afford interminably to denounce Imperialsm, England, remain the passive and depressed spectators of what is called the America, France and Japan and "Chinese chaos."

The Times dwells upon the existence of vitality in China and have used to make China poorer the rich potentialities for development, and submits that Great Britain should take the lead in devising a plan for delivering China from the incubus of Civil War. The subject should be taken up at the overdue Conference to consider the question of increasing the making roads outside the Settlement Customs duties, provided for by the Washington Convention. The Conference might consult not only the Peking Government but all active leaders of Chinese opinion.-Reuter.

CRIME IN AMERICA.

Washington, May 30. Statistics showing eight times as many murders in America in proportion to population as in Britain and that other crimes are also more numerous, have provided Mr. Coolidge with material for a Memorial Day plea for better enforcement of law and order, and universal observance of the constitution by Americans.

The President ascribed the unfavourable comparison to the fact that crimes rarely remained unpunished in Britain, while the reverse was true in America. He expressed the opinion that the apparent lawlessness of Americans was due rather to carelessness than to moral laxity.-Reuter's American Service.

FLYING FOR THE MILLION.

London, May 30.

A remarkable feat has been accomplished by the well-known airman Alan Cobham, who slew a light aeroplane, called the De Havilland Moth; from Croydon to Zurich and back, about a thousan miles, in thirteen hours, forty-nine minutes actual flying time, with an interval of only three quarters of an hour between the outward and homeward journeys, both of which were made without stop.

The Moth was fitted with a 27-60 horse power Cirrus Engine. The cost of the trip worked out at a trifle over a penny a mile. It is predicted that the machine can be sold at £150 sterling if produced on a large scale.—Reuter.

BELGIUM'S DEBT TO AMERICA!

Washington, May 30. The Belgian Ambassador has informed the Secretary to the Treasury that a Belgian Commission, headed by the ex-prime Minister, M. Theunis, and including the Minister for Finance, will shortly Reuter. proceed to America in connection with the Belgian desire to initiate negotiations for the early funding of the debt to the United States .-

BULGAR COMMUNISTS.

Sofia, May 30.

The authorities, learning that three Agrarian Communist exiles entered Bulgaria from Yugo Slavia and were hiding in the village of Vrabnitza, sent a lieutenant and a number of police to arrest them. The exiles, when discovered, fired, killing the lieutenant, and escaped.—Router.

CAPTAIN AMUNDSEN.

London, May 31. An Observer correspondent states that followers of Captain Amundsen's record are confident that he is alive and that when he started from Spitzbergen on the 21st his progamme included far more than a few hours return flight to the North Pole.—Reuter.

THE FRENCH BUDGET.

Paris, May 31. The Senate by a vote of 289 to 1 passed the budget which shows an excess revenue over expenditure of 28,000,000 francs. M. Caillaux stated, that he desired to apply the revenues from the Dawes plan to other purposes than budgetary needs .- Reuter.

RIOT AT SHANGHAL.

"ANTI-JAPANESE DEMONSTRATION.

Shanghai, May 80.-The anti-Japanese feeling, which has been

Refusing to disperse, sixty were arrested and taken to a police station, where the ring-leaders were released, but refused to depart. Largely reinforced, they severely handled a constable and made a general attack upon the police station. The "police ineffectually fired over their heads, and eventually fired point blank, severely wounding ten, of whom six succumbed. Subsequently, thirty were arrested, including two girls.

The Police report states that the by a Japanese foreman during the recent/cotton mill strikes.

Seven of the rioters have died.

Kill the Foreigners.

The crowd knocked down Constables Cole and Steven and attempted to wrest their arms away, shouting: "Kill the foreigners. refer to the Maritime Customa. which the Powers are alleged to and rob her of much money. They also refer to the action of the Shanghai Municipal Council in limits, and alleged transgression of China's sovereign rights. They conclude by urging "Death is better than Imperialism, so make war on the Imperialists."-Reuter.

Inquest to be Held.

Shanghai, May 31.—Rain keeping the streets empty, but the suppressed student excitement necessitates continued precautions. Inquests upon those killed will take place to-morrow and the trial of upwards of thirty of those arrested on Tuesday...

It appears that though a few girls were mixed up in the riots, none were actually arrested.

The general opinion is that the police took the only, though regret-table, course in preventing the students from securing the police arms, which would have led to most erious results.—Reuter.

The Chinese Press report that in the riots the police took action dispassionately, adding that the Chinese and foreign authorities have the matter in hand and expect the affair to be settled amicably. They do not expect any further trouble.

Committee Called For.

The Lord Mayor of London has received Mr. Tom Mix, the cinema actor, at the Mansion House; and during his short stay in London that gallaint horseman and histrion produced an amicable riot in Rotten Row by riding there in the full panoply of the "pictures." After such a feat it seems natural that the House of Lords should devote some portion of its time to the condition of the British film industry.

On the day after Parliament reasembled from the Easter recess, Lord Newton was to suggest that, the Government should consent to the appointment of a Departmental Committee to inquire and make recommendations on the best mean of re-establishing the industry, having regard to the industrial, commercial educational, and Imperial interests involved.

Many members of Parliament feel that, unless action is taken at once, there will be no industry left to save. Matters have gone from bad to worse during recent months, and at present, very few British studios are in use, says L. E. S. HODGE, the Times. The British industry has always been carried on under grave difficulties. Just as it was beginning to find its feet the war intervened, and the interference British production thus caused enabled the American producers to obtain a firm footing in the country.

After the war a determined effort was made to right matters and under the guidance of the Prince of Wales a campaign wat launched to induce cinemato graph theatres to give preference to British films. The abolition of the McKenna duties by A consignment of Italian White the Labour Government however & Coloured Marble, Statuettes, caused fresh difficulties, and sinc Busts, Pedestals, Lamps and then the British industry ha amount received from the duti

The proposal which is likely be made during the debate in it House of Lords is that the fil industry should apply to the Board of Trade for protection under the new Safeguarding Industries scheme, though it realised that in its present sta there might be difficulty convincing a committee that t industry could "reasonably regarded as one of substant

IS IT." GETTING ON YOUR NERVES?"

A Brief Health Talk to Business Men.

When you find that you no longer approach either work or pleasure with the same zest as formerly, that you rise depressed and fagged in the mornings, find meals distasteful, the duties of the day boring and vexatious; when you feel that there is "always something wrong," not only in your surroundings but also in your physical condition, it is time to bring yourself to a sudden stop, to realize that you are facing a nervous breakdown, and that here and now, without delay, a re-building process must be commenced if a worse condition of things is to be averted.

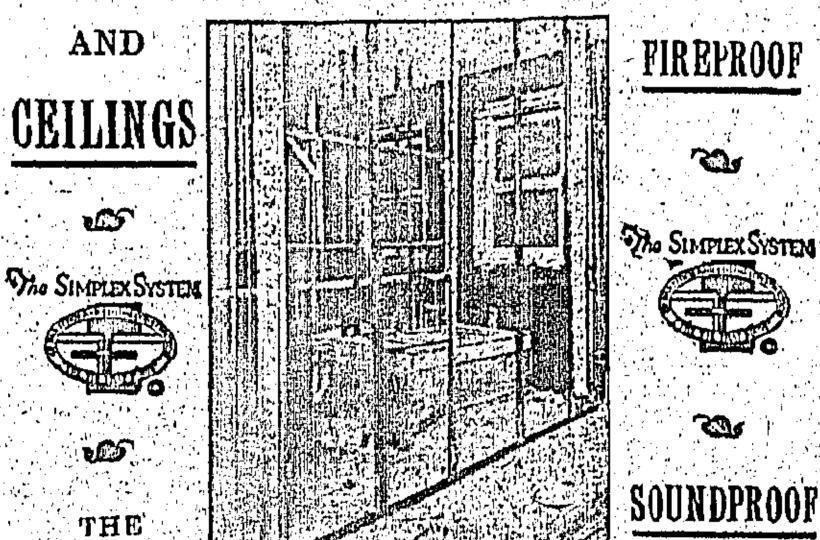

To re-build exhausted forces and revitalize over-taxed nerves there is only one right way, and that is through the blood. And to strengthen, enrich and purify the blood nothing better exists than Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, the Tonic of world-wide reputation. As long as you can remember.

DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS have been a familiar name to you; if you give them your confidence now the probability is that you will think of them with gratitude for the rest of your life; Delay is dangerous: Why not begin your restoration to health!

to-day? Chemists everywhere sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or sent post free to your address, $1.50 per bottle $8, for six bottles, by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 60 Kiangse Road, Shanghai.

Dr. Heaviside, the famous physicist, has propounded the theory that wireless waves are carthbound, being guided by the electrical properties of the surrounding gases. Many experts agree with him, but the more adventurous minds have hoped to establish wireless communication with other planets.

In a discussion on airworthiness and the maintenance of machines a suggestion was put forward that the British system of ground engineers and maintenance should be included in the Air Navigation Regulations. the present time the Regulations demand an airworthiness certificate hut do not provide for subsequent maintenance. The matter was referred to a techical sub-committee, which will report in the summer, and a decision will be taken at the next conference in Brussels in October.

Another decision of the Commission was that the Air Navigation Regulations, while permitting the transport by air of sporting weapons and explosives for commercial purposes, subject to the consent of the nation concerned, forbade the carrying of arms, ammunition, and explosives of war.

FIRST DAY AT WEMBLEY.

Realistic Spectacle of Great Fire.

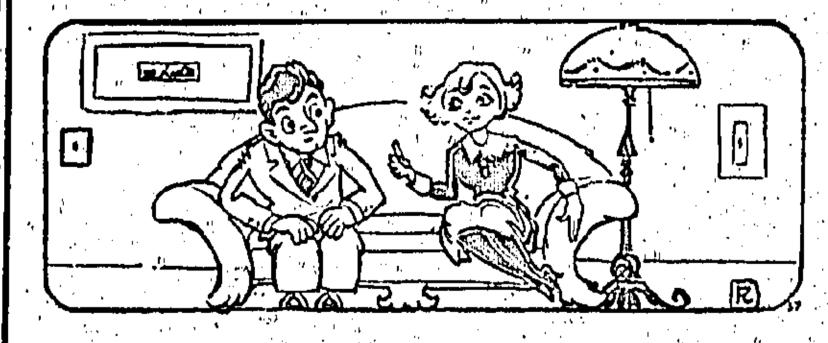

London May 10. The new Wembley's first day concluded with a pageant at the Stadium of "London defended' representing with thrilling realiem an air attack on London. A warning siren sounded after which, as searchlights swept the sky, a squadron of illuminated aeroplanes appeared and penetrated the anti-air-craft barrage and swooped over their objective which was a building at the west end of the Stadium setting it on fire with incendiary mobs, while flares simultaneously burst out of the tower at the east end. The fire brigade was summoned to rush up. After achieving an exciting rescue, the fire brigade conquered the conflagration. The concluding spectacle was realistic, the re-enactment of the Great Fire of London of 1666 in which offective use was made of searchlights whose giant shadows added to the horrors of the scene.

STORY OF SLOOP'S COMMISSION.

Strange Places.

With her coal supply practically exhausted, barely enough food aboard for just one more meal. almost no water, no cigarettes or pipe tobacco, but with a cruising record of 12,000 miles behind her and an Australian kangaroo tied out on the after deck as a souvenir of the trip, the British sloop Bluebell of the British Navy slipped into Manila harbour sesterday afternoon from the Pelew Islands on route to Hong. kong, says the Manila Bulletin of May 21st.

She is completing a four and a half months cruise of the South Seas and while she left the home port, Hongkong, stocked to the gunwales with supplies of every sort and has renewed many times wonderful cruise. n route, she came into Manila] Bay yesterday "naked as a jay bird." Just the Pelews. now they have a goodly crowd of the sons of Han aboard. The cruise of the Bluebell has taken her to strange and out of the way places of the Southern Seas. I there they departed for a place seldom seen by white men, the island of Bruna, a tiny spot in the Pacific off Borneo, and visited the capital, a town of the same name as the island. Here the sultan of Brunai holds forth and those of the Bluebell were entertained on a royal scale. The sultan brought out his harem, in- each. vited his guests to make themselves at home and—but that's another story.

OFF BEATEN PATH.

From the dreamy realm of the sultan the Bluebell and her men took the beaten path for a few days, visiting Singapore and Penang, but soon sailed away again for Teluk Anson and Port Swettenham, other ports in the same vicinity but not known to the average traveller en route to Europe. After having strange experiences in these out of the way places, the Bluebell's crew headed her nose back to Singapore and there she prepared for the long jump into the South Seas which was to bring still more strange sights before she and her crewreturned north of the equator.

With her bunkers full and a heavy larder she went without a hitch to Macassan of the Celebes group, then on to Amboina of the Malacca dots in the blue salt Pacific and later dropped her anchor in the harbour of Dobo, a beautiful harbour of the Aru islands and under the flag of the Dutch. From there they went to the Thursday group for a flying visit. For a bit of a thrill they pulled—into Cape York on the northern most tip of Queensland and took a day hunting ashore. They shot all manner of things and it was here they captured the kangaroo which to-day graces the rear deck of the Bluebell and some day in the words of its owner, will visit Bonny Scotland and Message From The Arcturus.

Extraordinary good luck is attending the Arcturus expedition in the Pacific.

He expresses the belief that there is some connexion between the eruptions, the Japanese earthquakes, and changes in the Humboldt current.

MUSIC OF SAND.

Desert Harmonies.

Reference to the curious sound of dosort lands known as the 'Music of the Sands" was made by Maj'r General Sir Percy Cox in a lecture on "Some Excursions in Oman," which he delivered recently before the Royal Geographical Society.

Sir Percy made two journeys in Oman while serving as Political Agent of the Government of India, and he was the first European to traverse some of the ground he covered. He first heard the music of the sands, he said, while the caravan toiled up and down the sand dunes. It was like the booming of a great organ in the distance, and to one hearing it for the first time an extraordinary phenomenon. Sir Percy described an exciting camel race he had with the pilot of his party. "My camel," he said "was fresh, and in trying to pull her up the headstring came away in my hand and she went away with me into the blue. Sitting as I was mimosa thorns. The direction angles to our line of route, and if in my wild career I had happened upon a strange bedouin encampment it might have gone hard with me. I could only just reach the camel's cheek or neck with the end of my riding cane, and the best I could do was to keep her more or less on a wide circular course by poking at her neck and endeavouring to guide her gradually back towards our starting point. At last, in the course of half an hour, I had gradually got her head in the right right direction, and my pilot Hamud and another were able to cut in in front of me and head her off. I was somewhat exhausted, my clothes torn, and face and hands badly scratched with thorns, but I was otherwise none the worse. I did not offer

CENTENARY OF STORY-TELLER. Many Books.

Last April saw the centenary of the birth of Robert Michael Ballantyne, the inimitable storycalling for forty years and produced some eighty books of Parcels 5th 5 p.m. adventure-nearly all of them "favourites." Although he had such contemporary rivals Kingston, Henty and Mayne Reid, none of them excelled him in the constancy and affection of their public.

Ballantyne was not ill-equipped for his trade, for his experience enabled him to infuse a telling realism into his pictures of remote lands. His first story for boys, "The Young Fur Traders" -it was originally published with the title, "Snowflakes and Sun-Registration 9.45 a.m. beams, or, the Young Fur Traders"—was based on his own adventures as a youth in the service of the Hudson Bay Fur Trading Company : an experience, obtained between the ages of sixteen and twenty-three, which surely most boys have longed to share at one time or another in
